

Jasemine Choy Chambers, Ph.D. J.D.
Deputy Administrator, Office of Policy and External Affairs
United States Patent and Trademark Office

As Deputy Administrator of the Office of Policy and External Affairs (“OPEA”) at the United States Patent and Trademark Office (“USPTO”), Dr. Chambers assists the Administrator of OPEA in providing policy advice to the Under Secretary of Commerce for Intellectual Property and overseeing administration and support for all domestic and international intellectual property (“IP”) policy-related operations; congressional and legislative engagement, as carried out by the Office of Governmental Affairs; education and training, as carried out under the Global Intellectual Property Academy; global IP leadership through administration of the IP Attaché Program; and economic analyses, as carried out by the Chief Economist.

Dr. Chambers’ previous appointments at the USPTO include serving as Director of Technology Center 2900 where she oversaw the examination of design patent applications, as Director of Technology Center 1600 where she oversaw the examination of biotechnology, pharmaceutical, and organic chemistry patent applications, and as the USPTO's project coordinator in the creation of the Patent Cooperation Treaty Search and Examination Guidelines adopted by the World Intellectual Property Organization.

A former law clerk to Chief Judge Randall R. Rader of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, Dr. Chambers also has served on detail assignments at the White House Office of Science and Technology Policy, and the Department of State’s Office of Intellectual Property Enforcement.

Dr. Chambers received a B.A. with high honors in Biology from Agnes Scott College, a Ph.D. in Molecular Biophysics from the Florida State University, and a J.D. with honors from the George Washington University Law School. She is a member of the Maryland state bar and the District of Columbia bar, and is admitted to practice before the U.S. Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

Ernesto Rubio

Ernesto Rubio joined the European Union Office for Harmonization in the Internal Market (Trade Marks and Designs) in January 2012 as Special Projects Coordinator in the area of international cooperation and legal affairs. Until the end of 2011, he used to work for the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) in Geneva, where he served as a Director since 1991. He held, inter alia, the positions of WIPO Assistant Director General (2003-2009) and Senior Director for Trademarks, Industrial Designs and Geographical Indications. He was responsible for the administration of the Madrid System for the International Registration of Marks and the Hague System for the International Registration of Industrial Designs. In 2006, he headed the Secretariat of the Diplomatic Conference that negotiated and adopted the Singapore Treaty on the Law of Trademarks. Ernesto Rubio is a national of France and a juris doctor graduate of the Universidad de la República in Montevideo, the city where he was born.

Xia Guohong

Deputy Director General

Xia Guohong works in Patent Examination Cooperation Center of the Patent Office, SIPO, Beijing from 2001 until now. Prior to that, Mr. Xia served in Electronic Examination Department of State Intellectual Property Office of China for seven years. He has over 15 years' professional experience in this area.

Mr. Xia was appointed the Deputy Director General of the Beijing Center in 2009 and has been responsible for administrative management and providing policy assistance to patent examination. He also helps formulate SIPO strategic goals.

Mr. Xia joined SIPO in 1995 as a patent examiner, prosecuting patent applications for electronics, and became a section chief in 1999.

Mr. Xia holds a bachelor degree of compute engineering from the Southwest Jiaotong University.

Philippe Baechtold

Director

Patents and Innovation Division, World Intellectual Property Organization

Philippe Baechtold, a national of Switzerland, is Director of the Patents and Innovation Division at the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO). His area of supervision covers (1) legal questions related to general patent law (excluding the PCT), including utility models and semiconductors and, in particular, the development of international patent law, (2) legislative and policy advice to WIPO Member States as well as (3) questions relating to innovation and technology transfer.

Before joining WIPO, Mr. Baechtold has been working at the Swiss Federal Intellectual Property Institute, first as a legal officer in the International Affairs Unit, then as Head of the Patent Law Section, and finally as Acting Head of the Patent Department. As a representative of Switzerland, he has attended expert meetings and negotiations on patent law at WIPO, the European Patent Office and during the WTO TRIPS negotiations. Mr. Baechtold is an attorney-at-law (faculty of law of the University of Berne (Switzerland)).

R. DANNY HUNTINGTON

R. Danny Huntington is a partner with Rothwell, Figg, Ernst & Manbeck PC in Washington, D.C. He is involved in all phases of intellectual property law, including United States and foreign patent prosecution, litigation in the Federal and State Courts, licensing, United States International Trade Commission proceedings, and general client counseling. He has extensive patent interference experience, with particular expertise in biotechnology and pharmaceuticals. Prior to joining Rothwell Figg, he was a partner at Burns, Doane, Swecker & Mathis, LLP in Alexandria, Virginia, and then at Bingham McCutchen LLP in Washington, DC. Prior to practicing law, he was a chemist for The Gillette Research Institute.

Mr. Huntington has written and lectured on a wide range of legal topics both domestically and internationally.

He is a Past President of Fédération Internationale des Conseils en Propriété Industrielle, and is currently the President of the Professional Excellence Commission of FICPI. He is also a member of the American Bar Association, the American Intellectual Property Law Association (AIPLA), the Intellectual Property Owners, the Federal Circuit Bar Association, Asociación Interamericana de la Propiedad Intelectual (ASIP), and Association Internationale pour la Protection de la Propriété Intellectuelle (AIPPI).

He earned his Juris Doctor in 1976 from The National Law Center at The George Washington University, and his Bachelor of Science in Chemistry in 1972 from Indiana University. He is registered to practice before the United States Patent and Trademark Office, and is admitted to the bars of the District of Columbia, Virginia and Massachusetts, and the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

